

PARENTS CODE OF CONDUCT

PARENTS CODE OF CONDUCT

- It is each parent's responsibility to behave appropriately while representing Rossvale Football Club.
- It is the parent's responsibility to respect the opposition players', parents, coaches and the referee.
- It is the parent's responsibility to look after the welfare of their son, and not allow him to play while he is injured, ill etc. All injuries and illness must be disclosed to the coach.
- It is the responsibility of the parent to pay their son's dues on time.
- It is the responsibility of the parent to ensure that their son is appropriately turned out for training and games.
- It is the responsibility of the parent to approach the coach at an appropriate time if they have any issues to discuss.
- It is the parents' responsibility to ensure that their son is at the designated meeting point on time.
- It is the responsibility of the parent to ensure their son can get to and from training and games, unless previously arranged
- It is the parents' responsibility not to enter the changing room of either the home or away team or enter the field of play. Nor to tend to an injured player.
- Parents must not coach their son or any other players during the game, whether it be while play is going on or at half time.

This is to be run in conjunction with the SFA's Positive Coaching Scotland scheme.

Any breach of these codes may result in it being referred to the Club Committee.
